

Powerful SMS Texting to engage your customers.

Communicate with your employees, customers and partners directly from your desktop or mobile to their mobile device using IPitomy SMS messaging. Use your business phone number, a Toll Free number or any number.

Person to Person Messaging

Now you can use your business phone number to send and receive SMS messages directly to your customers. Put a link on your website, business cards and all marketing material inviting customers to send you an SMS text. Engaging customers in the format they prefer will increase customer response and increase communication efficiency.

Since your employees and customers are already familiar with your business phone number, you can take advantage of that familiarity and send and receive text messages with that number.

IPitomy provides a dashboard for you to manage all of your text contacts and organize your messaging.

SMS marketing with Key Word responder

IPitomy's powerful keyword responder allows you to invite customers to text a word to your phone number. When the word is detected in an inbound text message, the SMS-Responder BOT automatically responds with a message you have set for that specific key word. The SMS marketing campaign application can send out SMS messages targeted at specific groups of customers. For instance, if you own a pizza shop and you want to generate some sales during a notoriously slow period, you could offer a special good for that specific time period. Maybe a free drink with any pizza or some similar offer to entice customers to your store.

SMS Messaging is a required feature for any business that has customers to engage, employees to communicate with or simply needs to keep up with the competition.
